How to stay ahead of TCO compliance

TCO Compliance Checklist

Did you know TCO's change?

We help you stay ahead of revocations, objections, and compliance risk.

Why ongoing review matters:

- TCOs can be under review or revoked.
- Importers should regularly check whether their concessions are still valid.
- Product specifications, classification, and customs declarations need to stay accurate.
- Historical import records should be reviewed for exposure if a TCO is revoked.

Note: TCOandFTACheck.com.au does not decide eligibility. A licensed customs broker confirms any claim against current official instruments.

Checklist

- [ ] Is the TCO is still valid?
- [ ] Does the product still match the approved technical specification?
- [ ] Does the commercial invoice description supports the concession?
- [ ] Is the tariff classification is correct
- [ ] Do any ABF Gazette notice affects future imports?
- [ ] Set up a annual TCO Monitor on www.tcoandftacheck.com.au
